Memory Of Leader Honored At Annual Legion Convention

Canadian Branch Mourns Passing Of Sir Arthur Currie

RESOLUTION PASSED

Sympathy Extended To Lady Currie And Members Of Family

The Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League expressed its sorrow sustained in the death of Sir Arthur Currie, the Grand President of the Association in Canada, and extended at their last meeting to Lady Currie and her family its sympathy in the time of their bereavement.

This resolution was passed on Monday, March 12th, by the Canadian Legion. A leather bound copy of it has been presented by Colonel Bovey to Lady Currie. The text of the resolution is as follows:

Canadian Legion

"The Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League now in Dominion Convention assembled desires to record its deep sense of the loss which we have sustained in the death of our Grand President, General Sir Arthur Currie, a loss which will be felt not only by our organization but by the ex-service men and women of Canada generally for he was to all of us in a very real sense our guide, our counsellor and our friend.

"We desire to express our appreciation of our departed comrade as our Leader in war, steadfast in purpose, sound in judgment, deliberate and determined in action, history will accord him an honoured place among the leaders of the armies engaged. But we will remember him as one who in the stress and strain of conflict was ever mindful of those who served under him and careful of their well being.

Man of Peace

"And we desire also to remember him as a man of peace, a great soldier who knew war and knowing it abhorred it for its futility, who ever sought to advance the cause of universal peace by rational means and sound methods. But most of all do we desire to remember him as a soldier, who broken in health and burdened with the cares of office yet ever had the interests of

Announce Date For S. C. M. May Camp

Will Take Place From 15th To 20th Of Month

The date for Spring Camp has been officially set for May 15th to 20th and preparations are speedily being completed for what the executive expect will be the best Camp the S.C.M. has ever held. Spring Campers this year will be especially favored in having as leaders Professor and Mrs. G. Vlastos and Mrs. J. D. H. Hutchison.

Professor Vlastos is already widely known to students of the United States and Canada as a leader and lecturer at the greatest camps and conferences on the continent. He was, as many will recall, the outstanding speaker at Couchiching last fall.

A native of Greece, Professor Vlastos is a graduate of Roberts College in Constantinople, and a Ph. D. graduate of Harvard. He received his B.D. degree at the University of Chicago and is at present Associate Professor of Philosophy at Queen's.

It is claimed that his youth of mind as well as body will be particularly interesting to Campers who at this time more than ever before are clamoring for someone of their own generation to lecture on and discuss their present problems. Mrs. Vlastos is also a Harvard graduate and is studying there for a Ph. D. degree. Mrs. Hutchinson is Women's Secretary at the University of Toronto.

"Bad To Verse" Opens In Moyse Hall This Evening

OPENING tonight at 8.30 in Moyse Hall, "Bad to Verse," the current production of the Red and White Revue, starts a run of five performances, which comes to an end Saturday evening. Last night's final dress rehearsal brought out the high lights of the show, the chorus dances and the costumes in particular coming in for a great deal of comment. The scenery is bright and attractive, and will add to the effectiveness of the various scenes.

Tickets are going extremely well. There are only a few seats left for Saturday evening, and while there are vacancies for the other performances, most of the seats have been sold.

The Sports section has undergone complete revision, and among the many new features will be the individual pictures of each of the coaches. All intercollegiate champions will also be given their place among the individual photography of the new issue. Among the articles will be one by Professor N. N. Evans of Chemistry, a reminiscence on early days at McGill. The "New Gymnasium" will be discussed fully. Perhaps the main feature this year will be the special "In Memoriam" article to Sir Arthur, together with a photo of him, as yet unpublished, suitable for mounting.

Undergrad Journal For Sale Friday

Arts Publication To Be Of High Literary Quality

The new Arts Undergraduates Magazine will be on sale Friday morning, it was learned from the managing board today. The editorial board expressed themselves as being more than satisfied with the literary quality of the many articles included in the magazine, and they hope that the sales will justify their estimation. The magazine is now in the hands of the printers and is being run through the press.

As this is the first issue of the new magazine, only a limited number of copies are being printed. The sales however, have already reached the two-hundred-and-fifty-mark, according to the sales manager John Macdonald, and there may be enough to supply the demand, if the sales continue as they have been doing.

The magazine will consist of about sixty pages. Among the many contributors are Dr. Files, Martlet, Joyce Marshall, Elma Perrigard, Malcolm Ransom and many others. Dr. Files is writing on "Literary Traditions in America." The magazine will be on sale in Bill Gentleman's office, and will sell for the sum of twenty-five cents.

Astronomers Meet To Discuss Planets

A meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society will be held on March 15th in the Macdonald Physics Building at 8.30 p.m., when three talks, dealing with the solar system, will be delivered. The subjects, illustrated with lantern slides, will be: The Sun, the centre of the System; The Movements of the Planets; and The Moon, the Earth's Satellite.

An excellent book on the subject "Ready Reference Handbook of the Solar System," will be on view at the meeting. All interested are invited to attend.

HOCKEY TICKETS

To ensure a fair distribution of hockey tickets to all students who wish to buy them from the Athletic Office, the system has been radically changed.

Henceforth there will be NO RESERVATIONS, no student will be allowed to buy more than TWO tickets, while graduates will be able to purchase four. Absolutely no outsiders will be permitted to purchase tickets at the athletic office.

Tickets for the game versus the Quebec Aces will go on sale at 9:00 this morning at the Athletic Office. Students must produce their athletic coupon books for identification.

A limited block of seats will be put aside until 5:00 for those students in Medicine who are not in the neighbourhood of the University during the day.

The North half of the East side of the amphitheatre has been put aside for the students, while the South half of the same side has been put aside for the graduates. There will, however, be no group or individual reservation. Any group wishing to be placed together will have to place themselves in the line accordingly.

If McGill meet the Moncton team next Wednesday, tickets will go on sale at 8:40 a.m. on the Monday preceding the game. The same conditions will prevail as at the sale of tickets today.

Debaters Conclude Activities Of Year

Wilson Becket Presents Report — Election Of Officers Held

Yesterday afternoon the McGill Debating Union Society held their final meeting of the year in the Music Room of the Union. A report of the year's activities was read by the retiring president, R. Wilson Becket and the officers for the next season were elected.

The President announced that this meeting terminated the 54th year of successful, activity on the Campus. The year's program consisted of 11 debates, annual prize night and one House Debate. During November the Society held two debates, one at McGill and again at Macdonald College. In the McGill Harvard debate the McGill team was successful. The McGill-Queen's debate resulted in defeat for the home team. Mr. William Irvin, M.P., was guest speaker of the McGill-Toronto debate at which McGill was the winner. A series of radio debates against Dalhousie, New Brunswick and Western Universities were held.

In February, the annual Talbot Papineau Contest was held and the Arts Trophy was won by Philip F. Vineberg and Eli C. Kelloway of third year, while Alfred Pick won the Papineau Cup.

After the report, elections were held and it was announced that Kenneth G. Baker and John A. B. MacLeish were elected President and Vice-President respectively by the Student Body. Phil Vineberg was elected Secretary and Melbourne Doig Junior Treasurer. The Standing Committee of four men are Kelloway, Pick, Tees, and Marshall. Colonel Bovey was again elected Honorary President.

A vote of thanks was tendered the executive.

Campaign To Last Till End Of Week

Fund Collected To Raise Money For Exiled Students

PROGRESS STEADY

Figures For Collections Not Yet Available — Quota $200

The I. S. S. campaign at McGill which is to run until Friday is now making progress. Money is coming in slowly, but according to the promises made, the total amount should be enhanced considerably by the end of the week. The collectors are making great efforts and a tag-day is planned for Friday.

Figures are not yet available, but an announcement can be expected shortly. It is necessary that great efforts be made by all concerned in order that the required quota of $200 may be reached. The money collected will go to establish a McGill scholarship for students forced to leave Germany because of political or religious opinions.

Campaign Backed

The campaign has the backing of Professors McLennan, F. Clarke and Huskins, the President of the Students' Society, Gerald Halpenny, the S.C.M. and the Maccabean Circle. The committee in charge of this campaign are Alma Howard, Beatrice Klineberg, William Hasler and Morton Bloomfield. The representative collectors of each faculty are: Arts and Science, John MacCabe, Phil Vineberg; Commerce, Ricky Ein; R.V.C., Alma Howard and Evelyn Elkin; Medicine, W. Gibson and I. Dubin; Dentistry, Phil Gitnick; Law, Ken Baker; Engineering, Archie Pistreich and Eddie Wigdor.

Similar aid to exiled students has already been tendered by various other European universities, such as Oxford, Cambridge and St. Andrews. Dr. Walter Kotschnig, who instigated this campaign at McGill during his recent visit here a few weeks ago, has

Architect Must Be Efficient Sketcher

Mr. H. Wiggs Addressed Members Of Architectural Society

Urging that outdoor sketching is of vital necessity to any architect proposing to be a competent renderer, Mr. H. Ross Wiggs, one of the foremost of architectural draughtsmen in the city, addressed the members of the Architectural Society last night in the Engineering Building. Illustrating his words with copious examples, both from his own work as well as from reproductions from the work of others, the speaker touched upon the most important factors arising in the completion of presentation drawings.

Mr. Wiggs advised his hearers to study the work of other artists, paying particular attention to how they expressed detail and how they treated shadows. He felt that excessive detail in a sketch should be avoided, regarding the ability of knowing what to leave out is of as much importance as what to put in. Among the American renderers of note today, Mr. Wiggs mentioned Otto Eggers, Louis Rosenberg, Samuel V. Chamberlain, Hugh Ferriss and others.

Economists Discuss Extent Of Advance

Rountree And Bloomfield Will Address Economy Club

Has any appreciable progress towards world recovery been made in the last few months or are such indications of returning prosperity merely illusory? This and other related questions will be discussed in full on Thursday, March 22nd, by Meredith Roundtree, Graduate student and Arthur I. Bloomfield, Arts '35, who will deliver papers before the Political Economy Club on the subject "Progress Already Made Towards World Recovery." The meeting will be held in the Smoking Room of the Arts Building at 8.30 p.m.

Bloomfield, Third Year Honor students and Treasurer of the club, will deliver the first paper. In this he will trace the course and phases of the world depression since the crash in the autumn of 1929, laying stress on the salient features resulting from the breakdown of world industry and finance. He will then sketch the appreciable progress towards recovery made during the past year in most of the leading countries of the world, indicating the trends making as well for the revival of world economic conditions.

Roundtree will in the second paper touch upon those phases of world prosperity as directly effecting Canada, such as world trade, the agricultural situation and the like. Most of his address will centre on Canada, however.

This will be the last meeting of the year for the Political Economy Club and it is hoped that many will attend. Elections for the coming year will ensue. Refreshments will be served and it is expected that members of the staff will be in attendance to express their views.

Arts Undergraduates Ask Nominations

Nominations sheets for the Arts undergraduate positions must be signed by at least ten members of the Arts Undergraduate Society and handed in to Bill Gentleman in the Arts Building no later than tomorrow, one o'clock.

The president and treasurer of this society must be at present in their third year. The vice-president should be a member of Arts '36, and the office of secretary must be open to a member of the Freshman year.

The outgoing executive have brought the Charter up to date and have completely revised it. It is urgently requested that nominations be handed in to Bill Gentleman as early as possible.

Methods By Which Poetry Inspired By Music Enumerated

J. Murray Gibbon Addressed St. James Literary Society

MR. CAMPBELL SINGS

Words Written To Old Tunes To Maintain Their Popularity

That poetry can be, and actually has been as in the case of such great poets as Burns and Moore, inspired by old tunes and melodies was conclusively shown in a lecture delivered before the St. James Literary Society last night by J. Murray Gibbon on "Words to Music." Besides illustrating his address with slides, the speaker was assisted by Mr. F. Campbell, who sang several solos bearing directly upon those songs referred to by Dr. Gibbon. Mr. P. French accompanied him at the piano.

Mr. Murray Gibbon, who was founder and first president of the Canadian Authors Association, is now in charge of publicity for the C.P.R. and has written several volumes on music among which are "Melody and the Lyric" and ""Magic of Melody." One of the most important methods used for facilitating the writing of poetry is that of reviving an old tradition, of writing words to a popular tune in order to prevent it from falling into oblivion.

Burns' Lyrics

As an example of a poet who exploited this method, the speaker mentioned Robert Burns. The Scottish poet, although he never had a very great knowledge of music, was yet quite musically inclined. Inspired by folk-songs and ballads of his country, and fearing lest these would some day become completely forgotten by the people, he set many of them to words, of which the more well-known are "Highland Mary," "Land of the Lea" and "Scots Wha Hae." Mr. Campbell's rendering of each of these songs added greatly to a proper appreciation of Burns' work.

An interesting slide shown was a picture of Leigh Hunt sitting at the piano in his prison-room, and reviewing some old melodies with his two visitors, Byron and Moore. The latter who was greatly influenced by Burns, believed that a beautiful melody was incomplete without a proper rendering of it to poetry. As an illustration of this poet's work, Mr. Campbell sang the widely-known "Canadian Boat-Song," which was composed here in Montreal to the air of a French Canadian folk-song.

Many Songs Mentioned

Among the songs mentioned by the speaker, the words of which were shown on slides, and sung by Mr. Campbell, were "O Filli et Filiae," Stevenson's "The Vagabond" to the tune of one of Shubert's compositions "Hail and Farewell," "In Dulci Jubilo" and a "Dance of the Blessed Spirit," by Glueck. Records were played of Chopin's Etude in A Flat, his Prelude in A Flat Major, Shubert's "Moment Musicale" No. 2, and finally the "Adagietto" from Alphonse Daudet's "L'Arlsienne" by Georges Bizet.

Philosophical Group Gathers Tomorrow

N. Keyfitz Discusses Limits Of Deterministic View

Nathan Keyfitz will be the guest speaker tomorrow evening at the regular meeting held by the Philosophical Society in Strathcona Hall at 8 o'clock.

His subject is "The Limits of a Deterministic View." This is a continuation of the discussion started last week by J. R. McCabe, when he presented his paper, entitled "Case Against Metaphysics." Keyfitz will deal mainly with science and its limitations. He will adopt the viewpoint that Nature in reality knows no order as far as humans are concerned but that causation is merely a way of looking at the universe, though of course, a necessary way. He will also deal wth free will, which according to him is also a way of looking at the universe but a very useful one, more so than a deterministic view. In other words, free will is a useful fiction. This speech will probably conclude the series in Metaphysics.

Dr. Files To Speak

Dr. H. G. Files will speak on "Eugene O'Neill" at the last of the Studio lectures sponsored by the Players' Club. The lecture will take place today at five o'clock in the Union Grill Room and all members of the club and any other students interested are invited to attend. As this is the last lecture of the season it is hoped that any of the club who have not attended the lectures during the year will make a particular effort to do so today.

A Satisfactory Solution

IT IS WITH favour that we view the establishment of the new system of distribution of hockey tickets that we intimated in yesterday's edition. In our opinion, this is the only move the Athletic Board could have made towards ameliorating the situation that existed previously, and we consider it a real effort towards giving every student a fair and equal chance for obtaining a seat at the Forum.

Providing that students cooperate with the Athletic Board in this matter in every way, there should be no trouble from now on. We would advise students that they will be expected to act according to the instructions given them, and present their coupon books, and not attempt to persuade the ticket sellers that they should be awarded more tickets than others.

We understand that the Athletic Board officials will be adamant in their adherence to their rulings, this is only fair, and we would advise students not to pester these officials in the hopes that they will be afforded special priyileges. There will be no favouritism shown in this matter, so students should rest assured that they will be treated fairly, provided that they cooperate themselves.

Jokes

WHEREVER students gather in the University buildings stories and remarks of a humourous nature result. These stories and remarks may be said to provide a key to the character of their authors and hearers. A great deal may be surmised about the life, past and present, of a student by noting the type of witticism which amuses him most.

The practical joke is the elemental form of wit and its appreciation is a prerequisite for an enjoyment of any of the higher types of humour. The student is probably entirely without sense of humour in whom one of the better practical jokes fails to stir some sympathetic chord. However, too often the most ardent practical jokers are the least appreciative of any higher form of humour. To be a practical joker requires physical ability to override the very natural objections of the subject. Thus it might be observed that the practical joker who is such to the extreme, or objectionable degree, is of an aggressive nature, necessarily inconsiderate of the feelings of others, and with a sense of humor still in its infancy.

Very slightly above the level of the practical joke is that humor which lies solely in the fact that it deals with an "immoral" subject. It may be observed that the student who hears such a joke with most relish is the one who has been brought up in a puritanical atmosphere and who is now revelling in—to him—the joy of hearing subjects openly spoken of which he has been forced to shun absolutely for the greater part of his existence. A fact that points out that familiarity breeds contempt for this sort of wit, is that the average schoolboy is more interested in this form of wit than the college man, and the college man than the graduate.

The humble pun is often painful but fairly harmless, and in moderation signifies little peculiarity on the part of its perpetrator. However, there are those all about us who pun incessantly, often weakly, and in places where it is uncalled for, such as the lecture hall and the theatre. In cases like these it denotes rather selfish exhibitionism, and often a nervous inability to remain silent.

These few classifications barely skim the surface of the varied form of wit in vogue at the University. But they may, however, give one a basis upon which to start some study as to the character, environment and general standard of amusement indulged in by the person concerned.

Panegyricus

By McParlfootin'

Socratic Hemlock

Hemlock Shorles, the Revue super-sleuth, who hopes to regale his audience tonight with startling disclosures (advt.) is not a true detective, we have discovered. He is an illegal offshoot from the Sherlock Holmes saga, we suspect. Don't you?

Surely Holmes himself would turn over in his grave were he to suspect such travesty. And if we are to share Conan Doyle's beliefs in spiritualism, he is probably haunting the contemporary product constantly, reminding him of the fact that he's only bootleg stuff.

We can just imagine the gaunt, austere spectre of that former master of the hooked pipe pointing the finger of scorn at this by-product, and saying: "My dear fellow, do you think you know anything about detecting? What could you find? You are merely playing on my former glory. For shame!" And Shorles, in a very meek and tiny voice, gurgles uncomfortably, "I tank I go, Holmes."

Skeletons . . . in Cupboards

The Annual Straw Vote is a thing of the forgotten past, but some brutal body-snatchers have pilfered this bit of gruesome evidence from the rotting corpse. In other words, one of the ballots has been handed to us. Here's what it looks like:

"ANNUAL" BALLOT

Leaving Us Flatfooted

In addition to the other conventional officers, it seems that the Debating Union elects four members to a Standing Committee, if we are to believe what we have read in recent issues of the Daily. That is an interesting bit of insight into the doings of this Gab Trust. It is something of which, we blush to admit, we were hitherto totally in the dark.

This idea of a Standing Committee, so reminiscent of the line-ups outside the Forum recently is a rather good one. What such a committee Stands for, is difficult to say, but we would venture to hazard that it is not lacking a platform. In addition to this scape-goat-like body, they no doubt have a Pass-the-Buck Committee and Holding-the-Bag Committee up their sleeves somewhere. We have not the pleasure of knowing those who stood for the Standing Committee, but we do know of a place on St. Catherine St. where you can get new heels and soles for 75 cents.

A Nasal Encounter

Mr. C. R. Gross's ebullient eruption has electrified the campus. His insidious accusation, identifying the culprit by the length of his nose, has left a trail of guilty consciences and misunderstandings behind it. Who knows what the consequences will be.

We hear it on good authority, that the Daily is organising a nose-measuring contest, and the gentleman with the longest proboscis (the writers of indignant letters not excluded) will be declared the culprit. Several prominent students, it is said, have gone into temporary retirement, while McParlfootin himself has made a last minute appointment with a face-lifter.

And so excitement rages. By their nose shall ye know them, and who knows, but that, as the nose blows, so will another baffling mystery be solved. And the writers of indignant letters will have to think up other ways of getting their names in the Daily.

Exit

This being the last (prolonged cheers!) appearance this year of our estimable column, we can afford to sit back and complacently make peace with the world. It is customary, as a prelude to the swan song, to write a will, and in our present circumstances, we could not dream of disappointing our devoted readers.

To All Those Whom I Have Insulted And Otherwise Offended—I hereby bequeath their heartiest enmity to Ye Dirt Col. Laundry bills need not be paid, all you have to do is tip the carter.

To The McGill Daily—My heartiest condolences upon the loss of so brilliant a columnist. You will no doubt succumb under the great loss, but, be stoical.

To The Players' Club—I bequeath full copyrights to ye old prexy on that trade mark "Crime Don't Pay."

To The Red And White Revue—An original plot for subsequent Revues. For original music, cf. Wagner.

To Cash and Carey—One (1) pint of high grade, hang-over proof, pure and undefiled castor oil as a purgative for dear old Emmiline. Spring is here, but the dear old gal wouldn't know it.

To My Devoted Readers—A much needed rest.

And so MacParlfootin takes his leave, grief-stricken and seared with the pain of departure.

MacPARLFOOTIN.

OUR GALLIC NEIGHBOURS

In order to cultivate an acquaintance with our nearest neighboors the atheistic University of Montreal (so at least says Gobeil, M.P.) I said I would publish the biographies of its leaders: Archbishop Gauthier, Senator Dandurand, Canon Chartier, 4 Bishops, a number of priests and other well-known "atheists." But this is my last column and, after writing about Mgr. Piette, I shall limit myself to the eventful life of the Vice-Rector, Canon Chartier, and the interesting career of Secretary General Montpetit.

Canon Chartier

What a remarkably well-filled life! What an arresting personality that of this imposing yet popular, eclectic, energetic leader of our sister Varsity! His activities are simply astounding. Besides teaching Greek and French-Canadian literature, he is the Dean of the Faculty of Letters, the General Chaplain of the University, and its Vice-Rector, and has scores of other duties besides.

Education

Born at Sherbrooke, he studied at St. Hyacinthe, Rome, Athens and Paris, graduating at Laval where he also obtained his M.A. He passed his Licence in Letters at the Sorbonne of Paris and his Ph.D. at Rome, where he attained his Doctorate in St. Thomas. He is a Doctor Honoris causa of McGill and Queen's. The future Canon taught at St. Hyacinthe and Montreal, and spent five years in Europe where he perfected himself in Italian and modern Greek, besides brushing up his Latin and ancient Greek.

Manifold Activities

Father Chartier was made a Canon of the Montreal Basilica in 1918 and Honorary Canon of the famous Cathedral of Chartres in 1931. He was twice sent to Rome on the epochal question Laval vs. Montreal, and was invited to lecture in Paris at the Institut Catholique in 1920 and at the University of Paris in 1927. In 1921 he was a delegate to the London University Congress and directed the Educational tours of his University in 1926 and 1928.

Literary Career

Canon Chartier was Editor of the Revue Canadienne (1908-1923) and has collaborated to most other French-Canadian reviews, most particularly in "Revue Trimestrielle Canadienne" and "L'Enseignement Secondaire au Canada," besides lecturing before a great number of Associations. He published "Pages de Combats," "L'Art de l'Expression Litteraire," "Litterature Canadienne-Francaise," and many pages in "Litterature Francaise" of l'Abbe Calvet, and seven chapters of "Book of Knowledge."

L'Hebdo-Laval, March 9th, 1934

The medical student, Jacques Tremblay, whose interesting article on Eugenics we published recently, has been instrumental in inaugurating an inter-varsity column similar to ours, in this Quebec Weekly. There is in this issue a vivid biography of Jacques Cartier by Cyrille Potvin, Law student, which I would like to reproduce, and many clever articles on women. How wise are our confreres of Laval upon this inscrutable subject!—In the 2nd of March issue the Hebdo-Laval voices its satisfaction about the oratorical victory of Hughes Lapointe and Roland Bergeron, both students-at-law, over their Winnipeg competitors in the Contest launched by the Radio Commission. When shall we hear them in Parliament?

Edouard Montpetit

What can I say about the young General Secretary of the University of Montreal that will portray him more adequately than an enumeration of his academic achievements? Edouard Montpetit, over whose father's Readers, (in English as well as French), I studied in the elementary schools, is a personage by himself in French-Canada. He is reputed as an economist, a writer, an educationist, a teacher, a lecturer, an after-dinner speaker, an administrator and a living propagator, without affectation or exaggerations, of the "Doulx parler de France."

Education

Born at Montmagny on the 26th of September, 1881, Mr. Montpetit graduated from the College of Montreal, and studied Law at Laval (Montreal), being called to the Bar in 1904. fter practising Law for a few years in Montreal and lecturing upon Economics at the Faculty of Law, he went to Paris where he obtained in 1909 the Diploma of the "Ecole libre des Sciences Politiques," and that of the "College des Sciences Sociales."

Chairs

On his return to Canada, he resumed his Law lectures and was a professor at the "Hautes Etudes Commerciales." After being titular Professor at the Forget Chair (1912) and Professor of Roman Law at the Law Faculty, he had to cease these activities in 1920 to become General-Secretary of the University of Montreal, where he founded the "Ecole des Sciences Sociales, Economiques et Politiques" which he also directed.

Correspondence

Dear Sir,—

Those of us who heard Dr. Walter Kotschnig lecture in Moyse Hall last month must have realised, if they had not done so before, that the current events of the European and international field are exceedingly interesting to us as outside observers. As students we ought indeed to be interested when history is being made so fast before our eyes. But we are apt to regard these events as a short puppet show-staged for our benefit. We read of the bombardment of workers' houses in Vienna, of massacres in China, or that a hundred thousand people have been forced to leave Germany, and then we turn over to the sport page with the vague feeling "that something has gone wrong somewhere." We forget the human values involved, and think only in the inhuman terms of newspaper reports. This is entirely natural, but it is not an attitude of which we should be proud.

We are indeed lucky in being able to forget these things—for there are thousands of students like ourselves, who cannot do so for very good reasons. There are, for instance, more than a thousand students who have been forced to leave Germany, in the middle of their courses, and have gone to France without being able to take any money with them.

The League of Nations has appointed a commissioner, Mr. James Macdonald, to supervise the relief of all German emigres. He has, however, handed over the relief of the students affected to th International Student's Service, which has already undertaken similar work in recent years. International Students Service has given one hundred scholarships to the most brilliant of these students to carry them through their final year at French universities, but unless we can get individuals or universities to underwrite these scholarships, the students will be forced to leave their universities before the end of the European academic year.

Since this is an appeal for the relief of students, it is only fair that students, among others, should be invited to subscribe. The International Students Service committee at McGill is trying to raise the price of one scholarship, ($200); this scholarship will be known as the "McGill Scholarship." Several British universities, including Oxford and Cambridge, have each subscribed one or more scholarships. Is McGill going to be left behind?

I am, sir,
Your obedient servant,
W. J. Hasler.

The Editor,
McGill Daily.
Dear Sir,—

I notice a letter in Monday's Correspondence Column signed by Mr. E. Carter, in which he objects strenuously to the fact that he has been libelled in Friday's Dirt Col.

If memory serves me correctly, the article to which Mr. Carter objects specifically alludes to a "soccer player"—not to "a member of the soccer team." Having been associated with the past four McGill intercollegiate Soccer teams, I am taking the privilege of assuring Mr. Carter that he could in no wise have been the person alluded to.

Yours sincerely,
J. Nolan.

Aces Provide Next Obstacle For Redmen

Red Intermediate Cage Quintette Engages U. of M.

Can Cinch Intermediate-Intercollegiate Championship By Win Tonight

THE Red intermediate cagers hook up with University of Montreal tonight in a tussle which will act in a twofold capacity. Primarily it will enable the Red team to make a determined bid to cinch the intermediate-intercollegiate championship on which they have a firm hold. Only incidentally it will round up the Seconds' city league campaign. The tilt will therefore count for four points, two being accorded in each league. Scheduled playing time is set for 7.30 at the Catholic High School Gym.

Although Coach Van Wagner's entry in the Intermediate "A" city league has not shown more than mediocre ability in its contests with local competitors, their play in the intermediate intercollegiate league, inaugurated this year, has been of a little more cheering variety. In successive encounters with U. of M., Loyola and Macdonald College, the Red team notched up well-merited victories and consequently require only an additional two points to decide their right to be the initial recipients of the title. A possibility however, that Bishop's College may take the trip to Montreal would require a play-off between the winner of the local college series and that team, with the championship at stake.

Several Games Remain

Should the Redmen be unsuccessful, however, in cinching the crown tonight, two more college games remain on their schedule. One week from tonight Loyola will provide the opposition in a return game, while the following Saturday, the schedule will be terminated with a match against the Macdonald College quintette over whom the Redmen eked out a narrow 23-21 victory Monday afternoon.

The regular line-up will prevail for tonight's important tile. Conklin, Wilson and Greenblatt comprise the front rank assortment, with Levites, recently returned to competition following a leg injury, alternating with Scriver at centre position. Corrigan, Boyd and Jeffrey will function on the rear line.

Hockey Team

THERE will be training table at Bowen's on Peel street at 4.30 this afternoon. The following are requested to report at that time: Powers, McHugh, Hall, Meiklejohn, Elie, Shaughnessy, Crutchfield, McGill, Farmer, Farquharson, Robertson.

Freshmen Urged To Turn To Wrestling

In This Sport Lies Solution To Economic And Physical Ills

FRESHMEN!—(and others)—do you suffer from internal pains? Is your chest flabby, your corporation uncomfortably noticeable? Do you see yellow spots before your eyes on occasion? Are you prey to nightmares? If so, then your symptoms are direct evidence of the fact that you require the bracing and manly influence of the art and technique of wrestling.

For the first time in many years, a direct appeal is being made to Freshmen to turn out in aid of the cause of wrestling. Coach Frank Saxon realizes the need of practice and experience if a championship squad is ever to be developed. Old members are graduating annually and it is in the newcomer that the coach must seek his new material. Coach Saxon is prepared to start at fundamentals in his endeavours to develop suitable material for future seasons of competition.

Wrestling a Developer

Newcomers to the game need not be afraid that this sport is insufficient in its bodily development. According to a census taken a few years ago of the various sports directors in the American colleges as to which department of athletics contributed most to physical development, wrestling was accorded top position over a large field of sports, tied with swimming. One of the remarkable facts about this sport too, is its rapidity of bodily development. Some of the scrawniest of individuals have added a substantial amount of poundage to their physique within a couple of years merely through a steady application to practice.

Coach Saxon would therefore welcome all Freshmen, and indeed all others interested, to his regular practices now being held every Tuesday and Friday at the Field House, commencing at 5.00 p.m. Vacancies will exist next year in the 118, 125, 165, and 175 lb. classes and promising newcomers will be expected to fill such intercollegiate vacancies.

ROWING CLUB

New men are urged to come and row at the Field House. Practices are held every day from 3-6 p.m. Coach Molmans will be on hand. Any prospective coxswains are also asked to report at the field-house.

Provincial Intermediate Title-holders, Group Champs Clash For Quebec Title

Aces Have Provided Smart Displays In Their Battle To Finals — Tonight's Game Is First Of Two-Game Total-Goals-To-Count Series — Second Match Is Still Subject Of Controversy — Bobby Bell Forced To Cut Down Squad To 10-Man Limit — Thompson And Sauve Will Referee — Powers Will Be In Nets — Eastern And Western Teams Battling Towards Allan Cup Playdowns

HARDLY allowing themselves time out for a breather, McGill Redmen, senior group champions, meet up tonight with Quebec Aces, provincial intermediate title-holders, in the first of a two-game total-goal series for the right to represent the province in the Allan Cup playdowns. Although tonight's game is definite, the second game is still the cause of a controversy which will require some ironing out. The Redmen do not wish to make the trip to Quebec, while the Aces object to holding both games here. Consequently some decision will have to be arrived at by the Q.A.H.A. officials, regarding this second match. For an intermediate team the Aces have shown smart playing and are expected to provide some stiff opposition to the hustling Redmen tonight.

Good Record

The Aces fought their way through the intermediate series without a loss during the current season. They eliminated Shawinigan Falls, Ile Maligne and East Angus respectively to qualify for the finals. The latter team representing the title hopes of Sherbrooke district were tossed aside by counts of 3-0 and 8-0, in their two game series.

According to the Allan Cup rules, a squad can carry only ten men and a spare goal-keeper. Consequently Bobby Bell has been forced to cut down his usual roster for this and succeeding games. Wigle and McLernon, both intermediate players will therefore step aside. Otherwise the entire team will be back in action. Powers will don the pads.

Other Titlists Decided

Meanwhile, with the Quebec titlist being decided, eastern and western teams are battling for the right to carry through to the Allan Cup finals. Way out in British Columbia, the Kimberley Miners battled their rugged way to the provincial title with a victory over Luscar, Alberta champions by 3 goals to nil. On the eastern iceways, the Allan Cup champions, Moncton Hawks swooped to the kill, trouncing Halifax Wolverine 4-2. In the other end of the bracket, Mount Allison University qualified to meet the titleholders by taking the measure of Truro 7-5 on the round, after trailing by three goals in the initial game of the series.

Moving west again, Windsor Mic Macs and Hamilton Tigers are prepared to battle to a finish in the second game of their total goals-to-count series. The two teams tied 3-3 in the first game. And out in the prairielands, Prince Albert Mintos take a substantial three-goal lead into their second game of their series with Regina Aces. The winner captures the championship of Saskatchewan.

Thompson and Sauve will handle the whistles at tonight's game, which will start at 8.15.

Medical Cage Team Interfaculty Champs

Cinch Title Through Default Of Arts Squad — Will Meet Macs

THE faculty of Medicine, already the proud possessors of more than one interfaculty and interclass athletic title, added to their substantial total of championships on Monday afternoon by annexing the interfaculty basketball championship, contention for which has been going on for the past several weeks.

The Medicos made a clean sweep of the series winning three of their scheduled matches in accepted and clear cut fashion and finally deciding their right to hold the crown through a default by the faculty of Arts, who already without any logical chance to capture the title, decided their easiest course to be a non-appearance on the floor of combat.

Plenty of Competition

The doughty Meds had more than a sufficiency of competition throughout the series. Theology, Commerce, Engineering and Arts finished the league play in that order and the Theologs especially put up a determined stand against the onslaughts of the Medical team members.

A definite date remains to be set for the play-off match scheduled to take place between the titleholders and Macdonald College. Albeit the series will consist of a home-and-home affair. The contests will take place in the near future.

Following is the final standing of the various teams:

	P.	W.	L.	P.
Medicine	4	4	0	8
Theology	4	3	1	6
Commerce	4	1	3	2
Engineering	4	1	3	2
Arts	4	1	3	2

Oarsmen Work Out Daily On Machines

Coach Molmans Issues Call To Newcomers—Practices Held From 3 To 6 P.M.

WITH balmy spring breezes becoming more than an occasional idiosyncrasy of the weather, those stalwarts whose chief delight lies in a vigorous application to the oars, are exerting themselves even more vigorously under the tutelage of Coach Urbain Molmans, in preparation for another season of rowing, including a summer session at a nearby lakeshore village. Daily from 3 to 6 p.m. the exponents of this sport can be found in the Field House hard at practice in the development of the type of stroke advocated by Coach Molmans and utilized during the past few years by members of McGill rowing teams.

The coach has issued a special call around this time to newcomers. Even the rawest recruit has an estimable chance of making a berth on the squad since it requires but steady application to bring about proficiency at this sport. The rowing machines which are set up in the Field House are equally welcome to those men who have no idea of trying for a team position, but nevertheless would like to use the machines for the exercise.

Over the summer, aspiring rowers are stationed outside the city near the lakeshore, where daily practices on the water put the men in excellent condition for competition. This year will be no exception.

A special call is issued to prospective coxswains, since the crew requires such members to the same extant as more brawny candidates.

Phil Edwards To Compete In Track Meet At Hamilton

Will Run In Invitation 1000 Yard Race At Indoor Event

ALTHOUGH indoor track activities for McGill athletes have been somewhat at a standstill this year, one member at least of the Red team will derive a full share of strenuous competition along the boards. On the 21st of this month Phil dwards, will attend the Indoor Meet being conducted at Hamilton under the auspices of some local regiment of that city in whose armory the gala athletic event will take place.

Phil will run in an invitation 1000 yard event. His opposition in this race will include such reknown track stars as Glen Cunningham and possibly Bill Bonthron and Gene Venzke both of whom are being approached regarding their participation in the meet.

Will Run in Relay

Besides the above event, the McGill ace will comprise one of the quarter mile runners who will contest the international relay. This is a one mile affair requiring a 440 run from each man. Bill Fritz of Queen's, intercollegiate quarter mile champion, Fred Shaver of McMaster, noted for his schoolboy feats on the cinders, and another runner from Toronto will, with Edwards, make up the Canadian team. The American squad will be selected from among the various competitors hailing from across the border.

This meet is an annual event on the sporting calendar and usually draws a great deal of interest because of the international element injected through the participation of the American stars. In past years Marquette University and N.Y.U. have sent down some strong contenders. The Big Ten Indoor spring champ was included in the invitation last year.

The Canadian Intercollegiate relay which was one of the features of last year's meet will not be run this year. McGill has held the championship for the past two years in thsi particular event. Opposition was provided on past occasions by Toronto, McMaster and Western.

Montreal West High Will Present Opera

Gilbert And Sullivan Work To Be Repeated Soon

No city's musical season can be classed as a complete success without the production of at least one of the ever favorite Gilbert and Sullivan operas. In the past 21 years the St. Lambert Operatic Society has often taken occasion to provide this delicacy to Montreal's musical menu. During the last three years they have presented "Lolanthe," "The Gondoliers," and "The Yeoman of the Guard."

Under the auspices of the Montreal West High School they are scheduled to repeat their highly successful rendition of "The Mikado" which they presented for four consecutive performances at St. Lambert two weeks ago in the high school auditorium on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

This production, like those mentioned above, has been under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norris, both of whom were formerly with the famous Rupert D'Oyle Carte Company in England. Mr. Norris, who was for twelve years conductor with this organization, directs the singers as well as a special twenty piece orchestra, the stage management falling to his wife.

The cast, all of whom are unusually fine singers with a great deal of experience in Gilbert and Sullivan as well as in other light operas, includes: Harry Maud as the efficient Lord High Executioner, Koko; Bert Fleming as the universally obeyed Mikado; and Amee Peterson furnishes the exception to this rule as Katisha. Yum-yum and Nanki-Poo will be taken by Doris Robinson and George Hufband while Alfred Jones will parade his uninsultable pedigree as the delightful Pooh Ba.

also stimulated many other Canadian and American universities to undertake similar projects.

The I.S.S. — International Student Service—founded in 1919, is a purely non-political body and has served to bring students from every country in Europe together to discuss various problems affecting students and universities, and to exert their influence to arrive at practical solutions for them. As it will be difficult for the collectors to approach the whole student body before the end of this week, all those who wish to contribute are asked to hand in their money to the Faculty representatives.

Amateurs Compete In Drama Contest

Plays To Be Presented At Victoria Hall This Week

Dominion Drama Festival plays presented in the Western Quebec Regional division will be seen on Friday and Saturday nights of this week at Victoria Hall. All plays are to start at 8 p.m. Inaugurated by the Governor General, this is the second annual competition to discover the best amateur dramatic production in Canada.

Three plays will be offered on each night. On Friday, The Royal Bank Players will present act II of "The First Mrs. Fraser" by St. John Ervine, Les Compagnons du Masque will offer the first act of "Etienne" de Jacques Deval, and the Montreal Repertory Theatre will be represented by "All on a Summer's Day" by Martha Allan.

The Saturday night performance will see the Bishop's University Dramatic Society in Act I of "Volpone" by Ben Jonson, the Trinity Players' Club in "Two Gentlemen of Soho" by A. P. Herbert, and St. Clement's Players in "Lonesome Like" by Harold Brighouse. Tickets at 75, 50 and 30 cents can be purchased from the Montreal Repertory Theatre office, or from the group secretaries.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor,
McGill Daily.
Sir,—

Permit me, as a student who regards the "Daily" as an excellent bracer for early morning lethargy, to say a few words to the Messrs. Carter and Gross, particularly the latter. What is the idea of getting so hot under the collar? Why all these ill-natured remarks because of a little ribbing received in an amusing column? Hot-headedness is bad enough in debate but it is even worse in print, for the printed word stays. And speaking of the mentality of High School sophomores, of which Mr. Gross speaks in such a disdainful tone that scornful epithet might well be applied to the peevish, fretful vaporings of the two complainants above. A GROWN-UP person would have treated the comments in the column with the good-natured tolerance and amusement they deserve. By the way, CAN'T YOU TAKE IT?

"Status Quo"

The Editor,
McGill Daily.
Dear Sir,—

Let not the older generation from the convocation platform bewail the fact that students take too little interest in current events and are not able to converse intelligently on our country's predicaments, lest a sigh of weariness escape from the student audience. The best method to encourage student apathy is to discourage every original thought.

Should we break forth in enthusiastic praise of status quo, however, and raise our hands in pious horror of any move that might mean less for the few and enough for all, we would no doubt be looked upon as ideal students fitting ourselves nobly for the prosperity that is just around the corner.

the ex-service men and women of Canada at heart, and by voice and pen and personal influence ever sought for them that measure of justice which he deemed to be their due.

"And realizing that in Sir Arthur Currie Canada has lost a great son, that we have lost a great leader and the ex-service men and women of Canada a great friend, we the members of the Canadian Legion do resolve that, following his example we will, in the spirit of the army 'carry on' and seek to secure the realization of the ideals for which he fought, for which he lived, for which he died.

To Currie Family

"To Lady Currie and the members of her family we extend in this time of bereavement the sympathy which comes from the understanding hearts of thousands throughout the land who knew and loved him for what he was. That God in his infinite mercy will comfort them and keep them in their sore bereavement is our earnest prayer.

"Resolution of the Fifth Dominion Convention of the Canadian Legion, held at Ottawa on the 12th day of March, 1934."
